5. Modification of Meter Read Cycles – Tucson Water staff member Johanna Hernandez addressed specific concerns regarding modification of the Meter Read Cycles, continued from September's meeting. In review, the current meter read cycles can allow for usage outside of the billing period, adversely affecting the calculation of the winter-quarter average for certain cycles. To correct for this, TW plans to condense the read dates outside of the billing period into the billing period. Some overtime will be necessary to achieve and maintain this alignment within the target number of days in a cycle. Aligning the meter read cycles as planned will alleviate the Utility's effect on the winter-quarter average. The overtime necessary for achieving and maintaining alignment is already budgeted, and the Utility feels this is modification is worth the overtime.

6. Bill Mock-Up Options – Tucson Water staff member Johanna Hernandez reviewed the two bill mock-ups that were produced based on the requests of the Subcommittee members. Differences between the two mock-ups were reviewed in depth. Staff clarified the breakdown of specific charges on page two of the mock-ups. It was reported that Administrative Service Fees and PILOT fees are not calculated by service or usage and so cannot be represented on the customer's bill as a separate fee. It was agreed that these mock-ups comprehensively represent the ideas of the Subcommittee. The Utility will consider how to present a pared down version of the mock-ups for Focus Groups, who will have the current bill to consider, along with any mock-ups staff provides. Candice Rupprecht, on behalf of Conserve 2 Enhance (C2E), spoke to the Subcommittee about their ideas for the donation box on the bill. C2E collects about $10k/year from this donation box, and appreciates the opportunity to provide feedback in this area. Based on research, C2E would like to continue to work with staff and the Subcommittee to include multiple options for donations on the bill. Considerations will be made with regards to pictures, or text that can be included to make the donations relatable to the customer. It would be helpful to have some text near the donation box that helps people understand how their donations are used. The language included in the paragraph currently on the bill regarding the donation will need to be revisited. The Subcommittee provided feedback on the number of options that should be given (2-3), and the amounts that may be appropriate for those options (2-3 whole dollar amounts and 1 write-in). C2E expressed concern with the horizontal design of the payment portion of the bill as it relates to donation write-ins, as math is generally done vertically. Staff will continue to work with C2E to design this section. Staff will also look into donation options for on-line payments.
7. Cost Implications – Tucson Water staff discussed the cost implications of the current mock-ups. It was noted that so far the mock-ups are unlikely to incur additional costs. Static changes will not incur costs; however, dynamic changes will incur costs. Staff is looking into the possible costs associated with the dynamic labeling of tiers (summer surcharges) for non-residential customers. It was discussed that the non-residential labels are useful information to include if possible. Costs will be more clear after Focus Groups have narrowed our choices.
8. Focus Group Discussion – Tucson Water staff member Fernando Molina discussed with the Subcommittee the role of Focus Groups and the work of the Utility to achieve consistency across the bill redesign, the website redesign, and the updates to the bill pay system and Click2Gov. Research shows that 90% of people coming to Tucson Water's website are there to pay their bill. One of the results of the recent focus groups on website design is the need for uniformity between the languages and images on the physical bill and the website. Customers consistently request communications that are clean, easy, have consistent terminology, and are compatible with multiple platforms. Care must be taken when using jargon on the bill and website, as that terminology is not common knowledge. The updates to systems in process now will be customized to the current bill; upon completion of bill redesign, the systems will be updated to reflect the new design. Current mock-ups may change considerably based on customer feedback received in Focus Groups.
9. Future Meetings / Agenda Items – Chairman Freitas reviewed the projected schedule.
10. Adjournment – Meeting adjourned at 11:57 a.m.
