2. Discussion: Commission activities at Tucson Meet Yourself booth

Rani: We'll have a tent for an hour and 15 minutes and time for setup and breakdown as well.

Doug: We should perhaps focus on heritage since that's what the festival is about, what are the other activities at the tent?

Rani: A lot of food demonstrations, conversation on heritage and local food. Maybe we can talk about what the commission does and gather input?

Doug: Yes, 10 minutes for an introduction and overview.

Loni: Should we have a flier?

Doug: Maybe one with language from M&C from when the commission was approved? And then give the audience some discussion topics.

Rani: Maybe we can unpack the meaning of heritage, it's very place based in my understanding.

Doug: Maybe a moderator is needed? We could make a connection with the commission on sustainability.

Rani: If heritage is the focus, we could link with a healthy economy and then food security and preserving heritage. Maybe the sustainability committee could send someone? Have a conversation on what other cities are doing on progressive food policy.

Doug: Maybe Kara from the food bank can speak.

Loni: If I can't make it, I can send another person from the County health department, maybe Vanessa. Or maybe Abby Rosen with Caridad Kitchen, she also works with the food bank.

Rani: We could also invite a manager of a Farmers market. We could survey the audience for feedback as well.

Loni: maybe a handout for people to fill out with suggestions.

Doug: We can ask a few questions, I can write a few prompts and make sure to invite some students.
