(1330 hours) Traffic restrictions at Stone Avenue and Sixth Street are expected to be lifted later this afternoon as Tucson Water Maintenance crews complete emergency waterline repairs in the intersection. The northbound lanes of Stone Avenue exiting downtown will reopen, and all westbound and eastbound lanes of travel on Sixth Street will be available for use. Left turns lanes from Stone onto Sixth Street will also reopen. The work is expected to be completed by 4:00 p.m. today.

Motorists are asked to exercise additional caution while driving in the area in order to help ensure the safety of the workers.
